New Community Gallery Exhibition

features ARTWORKS BY TWO LINDAS

Oasis by Linda Hanna

The Palm Desert Community Gallery will feature artwork from Linda Hanna and Linda Richardi in its new exhibition, Linda & Linda: Water & Light, May 26 to August 5. There will be a public reception to honor the artists on Monday, June 13, from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

Linda Hanna is a retired Interior Designer who began her journey into watercolor painting five years ago as a hobbyist. She uses transparent bold colors applied to wet paper, a technique known as "wet on wet," to create loose, atmospheric works augmented with darks and calligraphy, sometimes using ink or InkTense pencils. The artist's subject matter varies, but she has a preference for desert and California landscapes. Linda has won numerous ribbons in the various Coachella Valley juried shows for her paintings.

Linda Richardi has studied art through much of her life. A photographer for many years, Richardi now creates digitally manipulated photographic images in a painterly style. For this exhibition, she has chosen a series of selections from her chair series - titled SLIPCOVERED, which consists of a digital canvas that includes a white leather chair with images from the desert blended on the canvas. The exhibition also will feature work from Richardi's Fresco and Elements series, which are inspired in part by her travels.

The Palm Desert Community Gallery is located in Palm Desert City Hall and is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information, please call 760-346-0611, ext. 664, or visit www.palmdesertart.org.

City launches Updated Website and Palm Desert In Touch

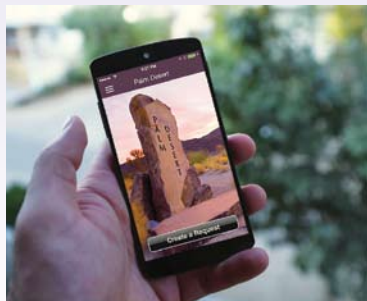

An updated website and a new smartphone app, Palm Desert In Touch, are the latest examples of Palm Desert's ongoing embrace of technology to foster convenient and transparent communication with residents, businesses, and visitors.

Brimming with useful information, attractive images, and intuitive navigation, the City's newly unveiled, updated website gives Palm Desert's online image a much needed refresh. The updated website, www.cityofpalmdesert.org, features colorful photos, common sense dropdown menus, and handy links to documents and other sites. It replaces an outdated design that had remained relatively unchanged for eight years. The new website also has a more robust content management system that allows City staff to update pages more quickly and easily.

The City has also launched Palm Desert In Touch, a real time mobile app and service request system. Palm Desert In Touch allows residents and visitors to identify municipal issues such as graffiti, potholes, etc. and report them directly to City Hall for resolution, whether using it around town as a mobile app on their smartphones or tablets, or at home or work on a personal computer.

Using Palm Desert In Touch is as easy as sending a text. Users can also upload a photo or video showing the issue and indicate its location on a map with their computer, or use their mobile device's GPS to mark the location automatically. Utilizing the information provided, the City will follow up as soon as possible to track down the problem and address it. Each request has a unique tracking number so the user is able to see when action is taken. A smartphone is not required in order to use Palm Desert In Touch since service requests can also be made online via the City's website – www.cityofpalmdesert.org/in-touch.

If the issue is a public safety emergency, users are encouraged to call 911. For more information, please call the City's Information Services Department at 760-346-0611, ext. 211.

Desert Willow Pro Saving Lives and Raising Awareness

Brett Shoopman

Brett Shoopman didn't set out to be a fundraiser. But the assistant golf pro at Desert Willow Resort has already raised more than $65,000 to fight skin cancer and says he is only getting started.

Shoopman was age 48 in 2012 when he noticed a strange looking spot the size of an eraser tip on his right side.

"I knew it didn't look right," he said. "It looked kind of like a mole, but it started to grow."

Shoopman went to a dermatologist.

"Two days later, I found out it was level four, stage-three melanoma," he said.

Today, thankfully, Shoopman is cancer free. In 2013, inspired by his experience, he formed a golf tournament – the Shoopy Scramble – to raise awareness and money in the fight against skin cancer.

Shoopman said two golfers who played in his tournament the second year took his awareness message to heart and got screened.

"Their lives were saved because they listened and they found a spot," he said.

The Shoopy Scramble just completed its fourth year in April, selling out Desert Willow Golf Resort and raising thousands more dollars for the American Cancer Society and the Eisenhower Lucy Curci Cancer Center. The Center has used the money raised by Shoopman to quadruple the number of free skin cancer screenings it offers each year from 50 to 200.

The money also supports public awareness efforts such as the lecture being given on Monday, May 2, from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at the Cancer Center. Board Certified Dermatologist Dr. Timothy Richardson will speak about the signs of skin cancer and how to reduce risk. Community members are invited to attend. For more information, please call 760-834-3798.

For more information about the Shoopy Scramble, please visit Shoopyscramble.org or call 760-679-6717.

Experience
a New Vision for Palm Desert

The City of Palm Desert invites you to experience "Vision San Pablo" – a temporary transformation of San Pablo Avenue taking place May 2 to 13, that will highlight this key roadway's potential to be part of a revitalized city center where walking, biking, and fun are the focus.

Envisioned changes on San Pablo, between Alessandro Drive and Catalina Way, include new trees and landscaping, street furniture, enhanced bike lanes and parking, a new roundabout, and a "road diet" that will narrow the wide, four-lane road to one lane in each direction.

The highlight of the 11-day demonstration project will be Saturday, May 7, when a section of San Pablo (between Alessandro and San Gorgonio Way) will be closed from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. to give residents and visitors a chance to see the changes up close.

The day's fun will include food trucks, a beer garden featuring distinctive brews from three Coachella Valley breweries, local artists creating works on site, and information about San Pablo's envisioned transformation.

Saturday's street party is the featured event finale for First Weekend Palm Desert, a monthly celebration of arts in culture the first weekend of the month, November through May. Other events for First Weekend in May include Cruise In at Westfield Palm Desert – an afternoon of custom cars, hotrods, classics, muscle cars, and more from 1 to 5 p.m., also on May 7.

For more First Weekend fun, please visit www.pdfirstweekend.com.

For more information about Vision San Pablo, please call 760-776-6384.
